Mayor opens Country Hills Multi-Services Centre

Calgary Mayor Dave Bronconnier officially opened a new $10 million joint-use Protective Services facility on October 29, during a ribbon cutting ceremony and mini safety expo at the Country Hills Multi-Services Centre, located at 11955 Country Hills Village Link Northeast.

City Alderman Helene Larocque and Northern Hills Community Association President David Heyman, celebrated the opening alongside Calgary Police Chief Jack Beaton, Fire Department Chief Bruce Burrell, EMS Chief Tom Sampson and Animal & Bylaw Services Director Bill Bruce.

At the event, an award was presented to Mayor Bronconnier by Jim Clark of Natural Resources Canada in recognition of energy-efficient elements incorporated into the facility.
